CITY AND SUBURBAN.

Dunbarton M. E. Church of Georgetown will have an interesting song service Sunday morning.

On Easter Monday the Columbia Rifles will give the last of their series of pleasant hops at the armory on Thirty-first street.

The Corcoran Fire Insurance Company at their meeting yesterday appropriated $100 as a donation to the firemen's relief fund.

St. John's P. E. Church of Georgetown was handsomely decorated with flowers to-day and early communion was held at 7 o'clock this morning.

The members of Trinity Catholic Church of Georgetown had their usual Easter parade this afternoon and a song service was featured.

Attorney Riddle, in an elaborate opinion submitted to the Commissioners in reference to the Seventh street road, decides that its legal width is sixty-six feet.

George W. Armour's suit against the District for damages for falling into the James Creek Canal resulted in a verdict, rendered yesterday a forenoon, giving the plaintiff $1,000.

Major Dolan, captain of the night watch at the Government Printing Office, presented with a gold-headed cane by his fellow watchmen at 12 o'clock on Tuesday night.

Mr. Christmas, the well-known artist of West Washington, will be represented at the exhibit of local artists to be held at the Cosmos Club by a picture of the Mermaid and Monitor engagement.

New Academicians Elected.
 At the business meeting of the Academy of Sciences held at 3:30 yesterday afternoon, new members of the academy were elected as follows: Professor Sereno Watson, botanist, Cambridge, Mass.; Professor Lewis Boss, director Dudley Observatory, Albany, N. Y.; Professor C. S. Hastings, physicist, Schenectady, N. Y.; Professor Haven, Conn.; Professor Arthur Michael, chemist, College Hill, Mass.; Dr. C. A. White, United States Geological Survey. At the scientific meeting after the Cosmos Club by a picture of the Mermaid and Monitor engagement.

Welcomed to Plymouth.
 Rev. Sterling N. Brown, who was recently called to the pulpit of Plymouth Congregational Church, Fourteenth and P streets northwest, was tendered a reception by his new congregation Wednesday night. Miss Emma F. G. Merritt, principal of Banneker School and a member of Plymouth Church, delivered an address of welcome to the pastor and the one of fellowship was by Rev. Dr. George W. Moore, pastor of Lincoln Memorial Congregational Church. "The Relationship of Pastor and Church" was discussed by Rev. Dr. S. M. Newman, pastor of the First Congregational Church. The new pastor responded in a way highly appreciated by all present.

A Big Real Estate Deal.
 A deed of trust has been recorded by John Walter to John Ridout and James Lowndes, a couple of Englishmen, who have real estate interests here in Washington, to secure J. Augustus Taylor a quarter of a million dollars. The deed is for five acres and twenty-two lots in the eastern section of the city, in the neighborhood of the jail. The property is all unimproved, and the agents to the transaction devote to talk of it, as the English capitalists are very averse to newspaper notoriety in the matter. The property is said to be worth much more than the price named in the deed of trust.

Safe Deposit Improvements.
 The Washington Safe Deposit Company has decided to erect a new building on Pennsylvania avenue adjoining the one now occupied. It will be built in the style and substantial manner as the present structure. A large vault for the reception of silverware will be constructed, while the upper floors will be used for storing furniture and other household articles. On the west side of the present edifice John F. Leaman proposes to put up a large business house. A handsome building, the Leaman property, will be erected by Mr. Madrow. These improvements will take the place of the old structure now extending between the Safe Deposit and Great Falls Ice Company's buildings.

Mrs. Glover's Suit.
 Mrs. Augusta P. Glover has filed a bill in equity against John E. Beall. She states that the late Anastasia Patten in 1847 loaned Mr. Beall money in large amounts, in one instance $45,000 and that she has not been able to find what amounts are due from the estate. Mr. Beall claims that nothing is due from him as Mrs. Patten directed him to pay whatever he owed to others. Mrs. Glover asks the court to direct that a discovery be made.

Our Boys' and Children's Clothing deserves the popularity which it has attained. Why? Because they are perfect in fit and finish and correct in style, and the prices are always the lowest. E. E. Brown, 715 and E. manufacturing clothes and tailors.

Troops Going to New York.
 The following are the commands that will go to New York: Washington Light Infantry, four companies; Corcoran Cadets, National Grenadiers, Union Veteran Battalion, three companies; Potomac Guard, Treasury Guard, United Guard, Columbia Rifles and Washington Merchants' Rifles.

No Man or Woman can afford to be without Wolf's Acme Blacking.

THE SEASON'S MEMORIES.

Beautiful Flowers and Sombre Black in the Catholic Churches.

All the Roman Catholic churches were beautifully decorated yesterday, Holy Thursday, and in several services of the impressive character were held. The choicest of flowers and hundreds of lighted tapers adorned the altars, while other decorations were of the richest possible character. In accordance with a time-honored custom, members of one church visited the churches of the richest possible character. In accordance with a time-honored custom, members of one church visited the churches of the richest possible character. In accordance with a time-honored custom, members of one church visited the churches of the richest possible character.

The ceremonies to-day, Good Friday, have most of a sorrowful strain and are unusually solemn and impressive. The emblems and ornaments in the sanctuary are removed, and the crucifix and other representations of the Saviour are covered with black as the emblem of mourning.

Grand Commandery Election.
 The Grand Commandery of the Golden Cross held the second session of its regular annual meeting in the citadel of St. John's Cathedral, Washington Hall last evening. John N. Eble, grand commander, presiding in the chair. Subjects of vital importance to the order were discussed at length. The reports of the officers and representatives of the Supreme Commandery. The following officers were chosen: Grand commander, John N. Eble; grand vice-commander, R. J. Floyd; grand scribe, F. C. Severance; grand treasurer, F. J. Yates; grand herald, D. O. Harris; warden of inner gate, R. D. Weston; warden of outer gate, S. H. Decker. A. G. Heyman was elected a representative to the Supreme Commandery, and S. A. H. McKim alternate. The commandery then took a recess to meet on next Monday evening in the citadel of Goodwill Commandery.

Census Bureau Patronage.
 Mr. Robert P. Porter, as superintendent of the census, will have an immense amount of patronage at his disposal, for the employees of the census office do not come under the provisions of the civil-service law. The anti-service Democrats, prior to the November elections, indulged in the most elaborate speculation as to the harvest they would reap in the census office. The tables are turned, and the Republicans are now doing the speculating in that direction. Several enterprising owners of large buildings in this city have already commenced to figure upon securing Mr. Porter and the census bureau as tenants.

Funer of Judge Charles E. Stuart.
 The funeral of Judge Charles E. Stuart took place yesterday afternoon from his late residence, on Washington street, in Alexandria. The funeral was attended by the officials of the city government and the courts, the members of the bar, Alexandria Washington Lodge, No. 22, of Free Masons, and Oriental Lodge, Knights of Pythias, as well as a concourse of citizens. Rev. Dr. Suter, pastor of Christ P. E. Church, officiated, and the interment was made in the Presbyterian Cemetery. Judge Stuart had $17,000 insurance on his life.

Funer of George W. Utermehle.
 The funeral of Mr. George W. Utermehle took place yesterday afternoon from his late residence, 510 Second street southeast. The remains were placed in a black cloth covered casket, on the lid of which was a silver plate bearing the name, time of death and obituary. The funeral services were conducted by the Rev. Dr. William E. Parson, pastor of the Church of the Reformation. The pallbearers were Messrs. Woodward, Ruff, Williams, Lake, S. C. Slater and L. Slater. The remains were interred in Congressional Cemetery.

Going a Shopping in Riding Habits.
 A slight which struck me as being far from common place was that of four or five young ladies shopping in their riding dresses. They were all fine looking girls, and their habits were well and stylishly made; nevertheless they were not merely riding or park riders, but the splendor of their habits showed that they had had a long ride through a muddy country. A male attendant held the horses of all as the ladies passed from store to store and gave their orders for supplies to be sent home. Washington is so accustomed to strange varieties of the genus homo that it takes something quite striking to attract a second glance; nevertheless the fair girls I have mentioned drew many eyes in their direction.

How thoroughly practical their proceeding was! Every one knows how much better one can shop by personal inspection than in any other way, and instead of being hampered by the drawbacks which attend upon getting stores to a remote country where these girls had jumped on their horses and ridden right into Washington's most fashionable street to shop at headquarters. Virginia Soldiers' and Sailors' Monument, Washington's day, but Washington at that time was a struggling hamlet, not the wonderful cream-of-the-cake place it now is. (Philadelphia Times Washington letter.)
